PLYMOUTH 400 KICKS OFF WITH ANNOUNCEMENT OF 2020 COMMEMORATION EVENTS

Press Conference at State House Generates Excitement Around 400th Commemoration of the Mayflower Voyage and the Founding of Plymouth Colony

Boston, (August 28, 2018) – Today the organizations behind Plymouth 400, the commemoration of the Mayflower voyage and the founding of Plymouth Colony, announced the year-long schedule of Signature Events for the 2020 Commemoration.

The Chair of the Plymouth, Massachusetts 400th Commission, Conventures' founder Dusty Rhodes, led a press conference at the Massachusetts State House that featured remarks from Governor Charlie Baker, legislators, Plymouth 400, Inc. and more.

Non-profit Plymouth 400, Inc., established in 2011, has been working alongside the 35-member State Commission since January 2016 as the architects of what is shaping up to be an epic commemoration of the voyage of the Mayflower and the founding of Plymouth Colony in 1620, a story that significantly shaped the building of America. "In name, Plymouth 400 calls to mind a singular place, but the history of Plymouth Colony is integral to the founding of Massachusetts and the Nation," said Dusty Rhodes, Plymouth, Massachusetts 400th Commission Chair. "The cultural contributions and American traditions that began with the interaction of the Wampanoag and English peoples have significantly shaped the building of America and continue to provide lessons for our future. Further, the inclusion of the Native American perspective is one of the truly unique aspects of this commemoration as, historically, this perspective has been mishandled and misrepresented."

"The same cornerstones that defined this moment in history are also defined by the themes of this commemoration: exploration, innovation, self-governance, religious expression, immigration and thanksgiving," stated Michele Pecoraro, Executive Director of Plymouth 400, Inc. "These values continue to inform global diplomacy and illuminate the diverse contributions of the immigrants that fortify the fabric of American culture. Each of Plymouth 400's commemorative events and programs were specifically designed to highlight these themes."

ONGOING PROGRAMS

The Legacy Trail of Authentic Places is being developed to trace key events of 1620 via a major history and culture-based network of sites throughout Eastern Massachusetts and Boston. This trail is a collaboration between Plymouth 400 and the following seven institutions and historic sites: (1) the Provincetown Monument & Museum; (2) Corn Hill in Truro; (3) First Encounter Beach in Eastham; (4) The Aquinnah Cultural Center on Martha's Vineyard; (5) Pilgrim Hall Museum in Plymouth; (6) the John and Priscilla Alden Family Sites of Duxbury; and (7) the New England Historic Genealogical Society, headquartered on Newbury Street in Boston.

“Our” Story: 400 Years of Wampanoag History is an educational exhibition created by Wampanoag tribal members from Aquinnah and Mashpee. The research and design team developed multiple “chapters” to highlight critical elements of Wampanoag history and a new chapter is added each year leading up to 2020. This exhibition will travel regionally to various educational and cultural institutions shining a light on the “people of the dawn.”

The next stop for Plymouth 400's Traveling "Our"Story Wampanoag History Exhibit will be at the Big E in the Massachusetts Building

WEST SPRINGFIELD (August 28, 2018) -- "Our" Story: 400 Years of Wampanoag History, an educational and cultural exhibit about the history and traditions of the Wampanoag tribe, will be open to the public at this year's "Big E" in the Massachusetts Building from September 14-30. This traveling, multi-media exhibit is part of the Signature Events and Programs of [Plymouth 400, Inc.](http://Plymouth400, Inc.), the organization planning the international 400th anniversary commemoration of the 1620 Mayflower voyage and the founding of Plymouth Colony. Admission to the exhibit is free with Big E admission.

"Our"Story is an interactive traveling exhibit, told in the Native voice, which shines a light on historic events that had a significant impact on the Wampanoag tribe, their relationship with the Mayflower Pilgrims, and the founding of Plymouth Colony, cornerstone events that shaped America's earliest beginnings. A Wampanoag Advisory Committee, with representation from both the Aquinnah Wampanoag and Mashpee Wampanoag tribes, created the concept and designed the exhibit. It was designed to bring to light key legacies of America's earliest beginnings from the Wampanoag perspective, a voice largely absent from the colonial narrative. The exhibit has received widespread media attention since its debut for its honest and powerful approach to highlighting occurrences in indigenous history that are not commonly known, yet vital to the founding of Plymouth Colony and the building of America.

Each year, a new theme is added to the exhibit; the first installation debuted in 2014 with "Captured 1614," a critical back story to colonization and the roots of the American holiday, Thanksgiving. "The Messenger Runner" added new context regarding the Wampanoag tribe's communication traditions. The "The Great Dying," depicts the catastrophic effects of a plague that devastated the Wampanoag nation between 1616 and 1619. The newest panel, titled "Powwow" was introduced in November 2017. It explores the traditions around gathering and giving thanks with a mix of interactive video, contemporary native art, and photos collected by the Mashpee and Aquinnah powwows, held annually in July and September respectively.

Plymouth 400 commissioned a Native design team to create "Our"Story to ensure that the exhibit was thoroughly representative of the history of New England's indigenous peoples. The Indian Spiritual and Cultural Training Council Inc. and SmokeSignals Marketing and Communications conceptualized, researched, and produced "Our"Story, and members of the Mashpee and Aquinnah Wampanoag tribes portrayed historical figures for the exhibit. The creation of this exhibit aligns with Plymouth 400's mission to create a commemoration that is historically accurate and culturally inclusive, as indigenous peoples have declined participation or faced misrepresentation and even omission from previous anniversary events. "Perceptions from Plymouth's earliest period became etched into the American story when President Lincoln used the iconic symbol of the Wampanoag people and English colonists feasting together in 1621 as a representation of cooperation as he proclaimed our national holiday, Thanksgiving," said Michele Pecoraro, Executive Director of Plymouth 400. "Plymouth 400 is committed to creating a commemoration that is historically accurate, which means addressing the realities of the story that don't reflect the simplified and often inaccurate depictions of the First Thanksgiving. This exhibit is intended to create conversations around these crucial realities in our history in an informative and authentic way, honoring the contributions of both cultures and recognizing the complexities of their relationship."

"Our"Story was displayed at the New England Historic Genealogical Society on Newbury Street in Boston April through May of this year and, prior to that, was at Pilgrim Hall Museum for the month of March, in addition to several museums and libraries throughout New England prior to that. It received international media attention upon its debut for telling "the story of Squanto, and the millions he represents" (Public Radio International) and for "changing Thanksgiving's history" (The Boston Globe).

At press time, the exhibit is on Martha's Vineyard at the Aquinnah Cultural Center and will be on display there until it packs up and heads back to the mainland for the Big E! Parties interested in hosting this exhibit should contact Plymouth 400 at 508-812-2020.

Senator Markey Leads Delegation in Securing Funding for Dredging of Plymouth Harbor

Monday, June 11, 2018

Army Corps of Engineers releases federal funds on the heels of site tour with Senator Markey

Washington (June 11, 2018) – Senator Edward J. Markey (D-Mass.), Senator Elizabeth Warren (D-Mass.), and Representative William R. Keating (D-Mass.) today announced $13.5 million in federal funding to dredge Plymouth Harbor. In 2020, Plymouth Harbor will be celebrating the 400th anniversary of the voyage of the Mayflower and the settlement at Plymouth. Regrettably, the Harbor has filled up with so much sediment that ships – including the centerpiece of the celebration, the newly-restored Mayflower II – cannot today sail into and out of the harbor. The newly-secured federal funding will help the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers complete this dredging project by 2020 and allow these ships to sail in and celebrate the 400th anniversary. Last week, Senator Markey and Assistant Secretary of the Army for Civil Works Ricky “R.D.” James toured Plymouth Harbor and evaluated the immense historical, commercial, and public safety functions the Harbor serves.

“Mainsails and masts may have given way to cargo and cruises, but Plymouth Harbor’s esteemed position in American history lives on,” said Senator Markey, a member of the Environment and Public Works (EPW) Committee. “The Pilgrims safely navigated Plymouth Harbor’s waters and their descendants should be able to make the same journey. I thank Assistant Secretary James for his support for this critical project. With this funding Plymouth Harbor will be able to host an historic birthday party – one that Americans from sea to shining sea will remember forever.”

“This new federal funding is terrific news for Plymouth, the South Shore, and our Commonwealth,” said Senator Warren. “As we prepare to mark the 400th anniversary of the Mayflower, we also celebrate the important role this historic harbor plays in our communities. The dredging project will help support the local economy, and I’m glad to have worked with Senator Markey and Congressman Keating to get this critical federal support.”

“I’d like to thank Senator Markey for inviting me to tour some of Massachusetts’ key water resource projects: Plymouth Harbor, Boston Harbor, the Cape Cod Canal bridges, and the Town of Sandwich,” said Assistant Secretary of the Army for Civil Works Ricky “R.D.” James. “Senator Markey has been a leader on these important issues, and I’ve enjoyed working with him in a genial, bipartisan manner. I look forward to continuing to partner with Senator Markey on improving the nations' waterways and increasing our economic vitality.

“Senator Markey met with us, listened to our need to have Plymouth Harbor dredged and took immediate action to make it happen. That is true leadership,” said former Senate President Therese Murray. “The dredging of the Harbor is critical for our 400th celebration, but, as important, it will benefit public safety, as well as our overall tourism and fishing industries. I am grateful that Senator Markey and our delegation led the efforts in Washington to secure this funding for America’s Hometown.”

“I would like to thank Senator Markey and Secretary James for coming to Plymouth and the Cape Cod Canal on Friday to listen to the major challenges that this region face,” said State Senator Vinny deMacedo. “I’m excited to have confirmed today that Senator Markey and our federal delegation have secured the $14 million to dredge Plymouth Harbor.”

“I am grateful to U.S. Senator Ed Markey for visiting Plymouth twice in eight weeks and for his advocacy with our federal delegation partners to make this dredging request a priority,” said State Representative Matt Muratore. “I also want to thank Senator Markey and U.S. Assistant Secretary of the Army for Civil Works Ricky James for visiting Plymouth Harbor this past Friday to hear from local businesspeople and officials and for today’s announcement that the funds to dredge Plymouth Harbor have been secured. Dredging the Harbor will greatly benefit our commercial fishing industry and be an economic boon for our tourism industry as we approach the 400th Anniversary of the landing of the Mayflower.”

“The town of Plymouth is so pleased at this federal commitment and the personal attention that this community has received for dredging Plymouth Harbor,” said Plymouth Town Manager Melissa Arrighi. “On behalf of the Board of Selectmen and local fisherman, we want to thank Senator Markey, the Army Corps of Engineers, and Assistant Secretary James for their investment in the town.”

“Thank you to Senator Markey for visiting Plymouth twice in the last two months and bringing Assistant Secretary for the Army R.D. James to tour Plymouth Harbor and see firsthand the vital importance of dredging here,” Plymouth Harbormaster Chad Hunter. “For years the word on the docks has been that no one would see Plymouth Harbor dredged in their lifetime, but thanks to Senator Markey and the Army Corps of Engineers, that pipe dream will soon be a reality. Dredging Plymouth Harbor will protect our commercial fishing fleet and expand our port capabilities by allowing small tall ships and cruise ships the ability to move around the harbor without the risk of running aground. This funding comes in the nick of time as we prepare to welcome the world for Plymouth’s 400th celebration!”

“We were so pleased to welcome Senator Markey to Plymouth this April to meet with Plymouth 400 stakeholders and have been grateful for his determined advocacy for dredging Plymouth Harbor in time for the Mayflower II to return home in time for 2020,” said Executive Director of Plymouth 400, Inc. Michele Pecoraro. “This partnership of federal and local entities is the only way to have a meaningful national presence for this anniversary. The commemoration of Plymouth 400 means a lot to people around the world, but for Massachusetts and our country it’s really a time for us to remember our history and to move forward with that knowledge into a new era. Dredging this historic port will bring great economic benefit to the Plymouth area and Massachusetts at large by allowing more fishermen, recreational boaters, and small cruise ships to call Plymouth a home port. Plymouth is America's Hometown, and thanks to this funding, we will be able to welcome home the Mayflower II, and visitors, Pilgrim descendants and Wampanoag tribal members to explore all perspectives of the history of 1620."

During Assistant Secretary Ricky 'R.D.' James' nomination hearing before the Senate EPW Committee, he committed to work with Senator Markey on securing federal funding for this project.

In April, Senator Markey led a letter with Senator Warren and Representative Keating calling on the Corps to provide funding for this important project in the FY18 work plan. Senator Markey also met in Plymouth with state and local officials and representatives of Plymouth 400th to provide an update on efforts to secure funding for dredging.
